

LARGE CROWDS HEAR SPEECH

Former President Cleveland Addresses Audience At The Auditorium This Afternoon.

RECEIVES VERY MUCH ATTENTION

His Address Was Most Scholarly And Felt Of Interest To His Listeners--Washington Birthday Celebration.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Chicago, Ill., Feb. 22.—Never in the history of Chicago has there been a more general or more notable observance of Washington's birthday than the celebration held today. Public schools, the exchanges and many business houses were closed, and public exercises were held under the auspices of numerous patriotic societies.

The chief feature of the day, however, was the exercises held in the Auditorium this afternoon under the auspices of the Union club and at which ex-President Grover Cleveland delivered the principal address. It was Mr. Cleveland's first public appearance in Chicago in many years and a keen interest was manifested in his visit and his address. The doors of the Auditorium were opened at 2 o'clock and within an hour they were closed again with thousands on the outside seeking admission. Mr. Cleveland was given a rousing reception and his address was enthusiastically received. The singing of patriotic songs by the audience formed part of the exercises. A banquet will be given at the Union League club this evening with ex-President Cleveland as the guest of honor and a long list of noted speakers.

Mr. Cleveland said: "The American people are but little given to the observance of public holidays. This statement cannot be disputed by the allegation that our national history is too brief to allow the accumulation of days deserving civic commemoration. Though it is true that our life as a people, according to the standard measuring the existence of nations, has been a short one, it has filled with glorious achievements, and though it must be conceded that it is not given to us to see in the magnifying mirror of antiquity the exaggerated forms of American heroes, yet in the bright and normal light shed upon our beginning and growth, are seen grand and heroic men who have won imperishable honor and our everlasting remembrance. We cannot therefore excuse a lack of commemorative inclination and a languid interest in recalling the notable incidents of our country's past under the plea of a lack of commemorative material; nor can we in this way explain our neglect adequately to observe days which have actually been set apart for the especial manifestation of our loving appreciation and of the lives and the deeds of Americans, who in crises of our birth and development have sublimely wrought and nobly endured.

If we are inclined to look for other excuses, one may occur to us which, though by no means satisfying, may appear to gain a somewhat fanciful plausibility by reason of its reference to the law of heredity. It rests upon the theory that those who secured for American nationality its first foothold, and watched over its weak infancy, were so engrossed with the persistent and unescapable labors that pressed upon them, and their hopes and aspirations led them so constantly to thoughts of the future that retrospection nearly became with them an extinct faculty, and that thus it may have happened that exclusive absorption in things pertaining to the present and future, became so embedded in their natures as to constitute a trait of character descendible to their posterity even to the present generation.

There is another reason which might be advanced in mitigation of our lack of commemorative enthusiasm which is so related to our pride of Americanism, that if we could be certain of its sufficiency we would gladly accept it as conclusive. It has to do with the underlying qualities and motives of our free institutions. Those institutions, had their birth and nurture in unselfish patriotism and unreserved consecration; and by a decree of fate beyond recall or change their perpetuity and beneficence are conditioned on the constant devotion and single-hearted loyalty of those to whom their blessings are vouchsafed.

But after all—why should we attempt to delude ourselves? I am confident that I voice your convictions when I say that no play of ingenuity and no display of special pleading can frame an absolutely evitable excuse for our remissness in appropriate holiday observance.

The commemoration of the day on which American independence was born, has been allowed to lose much of its significance as a reminder of providential favor and the inflexible patriotism of the fathers of the republic, and has nearly degenerated to a Practical Jokes Not Always Safe. A naval officer noticed that his decauter of sherry grew steadily empty. With a view to prevent the "evaporation," he filled it up with the vilest decauter he could compound. The sherry still decreased and at last he called up the steward. His explanation was thoroughly satisfactory. "I give the cook two wine glasses for the soup every evening," he said.

INTERNATIONAL CHESS TEAMS 3,000 MILES APART

Brooklyn And London Clubs Playing Trophy Cup Match Over Telegraph And Cable Wires.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, Feb. 22.—Chess players the world-over have been looking forward with keen interest to the international championship match between the United States and Great Britain, which opened today. The prize is the $1,000 challenge cup presented by Sir George Newnes some years ago and which has been contested for in nine previous matches played by cable by the City of London Chess club and the Brooklyn Chess club, which is now the holder of the trophy. The only conditions attached to the trophy are that the winning country must defend the cup against challengers, and that the players shall be natives of their countries.

The quarters of the London club and the American club were connected by cable this morning. The room of the club were thronged with enthusiastic chess players. The British team, all being active players and none held in reserve, is as follows: J. H. Blackburne, England's champion blindfolded chess player; H. E. Atkins, one of the veteran players of Great Britain; Amos Burn, Dr. H. Holmes, T. F. Lawrence, F. J. Lee, R. P. Mitchell, G. W. Richmond, H. W. Shoosmith and W. Ward, all of them amateurs of recognized strength and with one or two exceptions players who have had experience in prior cable chess matches.

The American team, so far as past records are concerned is not up to the standard of strength of the American teams in former years. In the years that this country successfully defeated the Britishers and won the Newnes trophy the team was headed by the peerless Harry N. Pillsbury.

WAS EXONERATED BY OFFICIALS OF ROAD

W. J. Dougherty, Brother of Mrs. Thomas Erickson, Did Not Cause Vanbuskirk Wreck.

Train Dispatcher W. J. Dougherty, brother of Mrs. Thomas Erickson who formerly resided in Janesville, has been exonerated by the North-Western road officials of all blame for the freight wreck at Vanbuskirk, Wis., a week ago, when three trainmen were killed. According to the story now given out said to be based on the developments of the investigation, a freight train, No. 280, left Antigo and was given the right of way to Ashland, with orders to sidetrack at Ironwood, to allow a logging train to pass. The train reached Ironwood on time, sidetracked and the crew went over to Hurley to do some switching. An extra freight was sent from Antigo, following No. 280, with orders to look out for the train ahead and to sidetrack at Ironwood. When the logging train reached Ironwood, the operator informed the engineer and conductor that No. 280 was sidetracked and gave them clearance papers and the train pulled out. Within a few minutes of the time the train had left Dougherty at Antigo called up the operator at Ironwood and asked if the extra had gotten in and was told that it had not, that the operator had forgotten about the extra and gave the logging train clearing papers. Dougherty had last heard from the extra at Sand Rock and he tried in vain to get someone at some station between Sand Rock and Ironwood to flag the trains, but could raise no one, for he now dead. Then two of the foremost living players are absent from the team. Frank J. Marshall, probably the foremost American expert, is prevented from joining the team by his championship match with Lasker and Walter Penn Shipley of Philadelphia is prevented from taking part by business engagements. The team is further weakened by the absence of Jackson W. Showalter of Kentucky, who for some years held the championship of the United States and took part in all of the previous international cable matches.

Despite the absence of these several noted players the personnel of the American team does not lack strength and the outlook for victory is far from hopeless. One of the strongest players on the team is George H. Wolbrecht of St. Louis, who last year won the championship of the Western Chess association. Another prominent player upon whom great reliance is placed is John E. Barry, who has been prominent in the game ever since he held the Columbia College championship years ago.

The signal to begin play this morning was given promptly at 9 o'clock, New York time. The London play is being carried on in the large clubroom of the Cannon Street Hotel. The cable and telegraph wires making direct connections aggregate nearly 3,500 miles, but notwithstanding this great distance the players are brought as close together as though they were sitting face to face. There was an intermission of one hour for luncheon. Play was resumed at 2 p. m. to continue until 6 p. m. If the match is unfinished tonight, as will most likely be the case, the play will be continued and concluded tomorrow.

It was known that unless the trains were flagged a collision was inevitable. Dougherty then figured out the exact spot where the two trains would meet, ordered the wrecking train out several minutes before the collision and then reported the matter to the chief train dispatcher. The next thirty minutes were something terrible, that awful suspense, waiting for the report of the wreck, completely unnerved Dougherty and although it was another man's error, Mr. Dougherty will never again be able to handle a telegrapher's key. He is now insane at a hospital in Ironwood, Mich.

DISCUSS USE OF
RUM IN TOBACCO

QUESTION BROUGHT UP BEFORE
CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEE.

WOULD DISPLACE ALCOHOL

Arguments Pro and Con Are Made in Attempt to Influence Decision.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, D. C., February 22.—A matter of much interest to the tobacco

trade came before the Senate Committee on Finance during a recent hearing on the denatured alcohol bill.

Frederick L. Felton, the largest distributor of rum in the country and Dr.

Harris E. Sawyer, a prominent chemist, both of Boston, advocated the use of denatured rum in the manufacture of tobacco. At present the alcohol, or rum, for it is, more a raw, or crude spirit than alcohol, cannot be denatured and used except at 100 proof. The rum manufacturers and apparently the tobacco manufacturers

also want to be permitted to use the rum at 100 proof. Dr. Sawyer stated that the use of alcohol is an essential feature in the manufacture of many brands of both smoking and plugging tobacco. In order to obtain solution, many gummy materials are added, for the purpose of binding tobacco to be made into plugs. More or less is used in the lubricating of machinery and in cleansing floors, and the presence of a certain amount of alcohol during the manufacturing process

tends to prevent the formation of mold on moist tobacco leaves. Therefore the manufacturers of rum added a proof of 100. In the crude molasses alcohol there are certain bodies not alcohol themselves. Even as a chemist, Dr. Sawyer did not pretend to say that they were because we simply do not know. Their amount is so small that chemists are scarcely able even by analyses to estimate their proportion. They are bodies of a waxy nature, something like cocoa butter, and when the alcohol evaporates they are left behind on the leaf.

Mr. Sawyer pointed out that if the alcohol is redistilled from a proof of 100 degrees up to the proof of 180 degrees, as under the existing regulations, this wax is taken out absolutely and thus we despoil the material which we supply to tobacco manufacturers of a constituent which has been shown to have a very distinct value to them. They were unable to add this material to the denatured alcohol because they did not know exactly what it was. He said it was this wax which keeps the tobacco

from drying out and makes it smoke sweetly. They had made a number of experiments on tobacco and it had been found that after several months

the tobacco treated with 150 proof alcohol packed better in a pipe than that prepared with 180 proof. Furthermore, the crude alcohol at 150 carried a variety of odorous compounds derived partly from the molasses and partly from chemical changes which take place during fermentation. These bodies are ethereal and like the wax

they seem to be retained in the tobacco

after the alcohol itself has evaporated and develop there an agreeable fruity character which fails to appear when a high proof purified alcohol is substituted for the crude medium-proof product. They also resemble the wax in being removed from the crude spirit when it is redistilled from 150 up to 180. These fruity odors which develop on the leaf, said Mr. Sawyer, are considered to be very largely responsible for the character of certain brands of smoking tobacco and while the manufacturers are very anxious to get the benefit of the remitted tax to which they are unquestionably entitled under the act of June 7th, they desire equality to hold the present character of their brands and they wish therefore to be allowed to use the crude spirit denatured at 150 degrees rather than the pure alcohol at 180 degrees.

LARGE CROWDS
HEAR THE SPEECH

level of senseless noise and dangerous explosion leaving in its train far more of mishap and accident, than lessons of good citizenship or pride of country. The observance of Thanksgiving

Day is kept alive through its annual designation by federal and state authority. But it is worth our while to inquire whether its original meaning

as a day of praise and gratitude to God for the blessings bestowed upon us as a people and as individuals, is not smothered in feasting and social indulgence. We in common with Christian nations everywhere,

celebrate Christmas—but how much less as a day of commemorating the birth of the Redeemer of mankind, than as a day of hilarity and the interchange of gifts.

I will not without decided protest

be accused of antagonizing or deprecating light-hearted mirth and jollity.

On the contrary, I am an earnest advocate of every kind of sane, decent social enjoyment, and all sorts of recreation. But nevertheless, I feel that the allowance of an incongruous possession by them of our commemorative days is evidence of a certain condition, and is symptomatic of a popular tendency which is by no means reassuring.

On this day, the Union League club of Chicago should especially rejoice

in the consciousness of patriotic accompaniment, and on this day of all others, every one of its members should regard his membership as a badge of honor. Whatever else the organization may have done, it has inspired its existence and earliness

of its work, and the love of country is still undimmed by the work it has done for the deliverance of Washington's birthday from neglect or indolent remembrance.

In furtherance of the high endeavor of your organization, it would have been impossible to select for observance any other civic holiday having as broad and fitting a significance as this. It memorializes the birth of one whose glorious deeds are trans-

Before The Footlights.

Way Down East. "Way Down East" is a descriptive story of New England farm life, exemplified in its quaint and homely characters, set out in bold relief against a background of rustic honesty and simplicity. The play, although as familiar as any play possible can be, from its having been before the public so many years is seemingly still as well anticipated as though comparatively a new vehicle.

Mr. Brady is sending one of the best quartets he has ever had in the show this season, and the good old-time songs that one hears only when "Way Down East" comes around will be rendered from the corner of the porch by the berry pickers after finishing the toll of the day. It is not difficult to account for the phenomenal popularity of "Way Down East." It is a story of plain people, telling an everyday tale, with the ingredients of sunshine and laughter clouds and tears so deftly dramatized and so splendidly acted that it is liable to be played for years to come to the same high appreciation that continues to mark its course in the greatest theaters in the country.

Ireland, in all its charm, animation and quaintness, is shown to the life in Lyman H. Howe's Lifeorama in Myers Theatre on Friday, March 1. The pictures come like a refreshing breeze from the "Old Sod." Another feature entitled "Waiting in the Atlantic" shows the wild rushing and "sounding" of a huge humpbacked whale. It is a curious experience to watch the perils of this almost unknown vocation from comfortable theatre seats; to see the "battling royal" with the monster, and then the great shuddering carcass on shore being dressed for the market. The program also includes a series showing the first conquest of those most remarkable of all Alpine peaks—the Dolomites. In shape they violate all ideas of what mountains should be. They look like colossal castles of nature—great shattered shafts of rock which are scaled at imminent risk of life and limb. A misstep, dizziness, or false hold would mean instant death below at every moment of the hazardous climb. It would be hard to conceive a more daring exploit. The panoramic view from the summit is one of wonderful beauty and grandeur. After following with breathless interest, the progress of the climbers over the perpendicular walls of solid rock, one naturally feels a sense of relief to see them triumph over the "impossible" and is forced to conclude that the only safe way is to witness a reproduction such as this, where the audience may share the reward of the view without risk of life.

WISCONSIN WEATHER FORECAST

Generally fair tonight and Saturday, rising temperature.

A BALLOON VISION

This is an age quick to see a new trail. As soon as any one blazes a new path, of any practicable promise into the unknown, there are resources available for collecting, classifying and communicating whatever knowledge the wide world may have of the subject. The day before yesterday it was the submarine, yesterday the wireless telegraph. Today it is the navigation of the air.

Paris has a school of a year old for the training of aeronauts and constructors of air-ships. The course covers a year's instruction. Chemnitz in Saxony is to establish another to be opened there in May, 1907. It will confine itself to the use and construction of balloons and later be enlarged to include the more strictly mechanical work of constructing aeroplanes. This is the phase of aerial navigation on which the late Professor Langley worked, much hampered by the super-inquisitiveness of newspaper men and the great disadvantage of not having at his disposal the special mechanical talent which such schools develop.

The authorization of a special Prussian lottery to aid Count Zeppelin in his balloon work is another evidence of the growing interest in this field of scientific experiment. With the proper instruction provided, many of the problems now hindering progress of aerial navigation will be disposed of. For this mode of transit has long since passed the sporting and experimental stages. It has reached the point at which no military power of first rank dare ignore its possibilities.

What the economic possibilities of aeronautics may be is too early to predict. But some one has suggested one direction out of many in which progress may be made. It is well known that the internal combustion gas engine is destined to revolutionize the production of mechanical power. This will call for gas instead of coal. It is asked why may not gas, produced in the bituminous and anthracite regions of Pennsylvania, be ballooned in great self-floating bags to any industrial center to be anchored and fed into the gas burning engines which drive the machinery.

In due time it might be far easier to convey a fleet of twenty gas barges through the air any distance than to take a fleet of coal barges down the Ohio or from tide-water ports in the middle states to New England. There would be no right of eminent domain to give away, no taxes to pay on roadways, nothing but the freedom of the wide heavens to limit our goings and comings and stars to guide us on the wings of the air. Of course, the great coal trade of the present would in ten years become a thing of the past. This sounds absurd, but if there is to be any laughing, it may be well to hold it down until the balloon has had his last word. The domain of the air is about the only unconquered field remaining.

DEMOCRACY IN JAPAN

Count Itagaki's proposal to the members of the Japanese nobility, that they surrender their right and title to class prerogatives, is at once a proof of the intense unity of national spirit in Japanese life, and a promise that no surviving class privilege shall be allowed to stand in the way of progress in the unification of the people under the leadership of the imperial head of the nation. The spirit of democracy is thus dissolving a middle governing class in the white heat of national loyalty.

Whatever may be the outcome of this proposal, it is in keeping with the strongest principles of national welfare, popular co-operation and continuity of enlightened leadership. Under these achievements of a nation may be almost unlimited, because of the decided increase in national efficiency in competition with other powers. Yet this does not necessarily involve the absence of some mode of recognition of the exceptional man, which is also one of the more inspiring motives to individual achievement.

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY

One hundred and seventy-five years ago today George Washington was born in Virginia. Today the nation celebrates his natal day as a holiday. Speeches are made, dinners held and social gatherings take place. The United States honors the man who gave his best years to creating it and governing it. George Washington lived at a critical period of the nation's history and the influence of his life is felt in every line of work and national life. In honoring him the nation honors itself.

Where are the democrats this spring? Thus far they appear to have lost their identity, but it is safe to say the fourth and fifth wards will show the usual majority when the time comes for the great Andrew Jackson democracy.

There are some people who blame the new primary law. Well, isn't that funny? Why should this excellent institution be blamed?

The fight for the city clerkship promises to be a warmer contest than was at first anticipated. Both Badger and Sivalem seek the office and both are good men, so the city will be in safe hands whichever wins.

The Watt-Hoddesley mayoralty campaign is booming. The voters are now doing a little thinking for themselves and the thinking may be disastrous to one or the other. Both can not win.

Dean Henry, the man who has made the Wisconsin agricultural college a leader in both east and west is to retire from active work. He has given his best years to creating and building up the college and now is to take a well merited rest.

There will be men who say that White was not a human monster, but after Mr. Delmas gets through with his character the general public will be lieve that Thaw killed the right man.

So Mayor Dunne has enough votes to receive another nomination on the M. O. platform. Evidently Harrison has lost some of his cunning while sojourning in California.

Circus days and the base ball time will soon be with us and the fans are already beginning to discuss the past glories of former teams of championship orders.

Chicago now has a murder to try. A woman kills a man and then wipes the blood from his lips to receive his dying kiss.

Politicians will find that it takes more than verbal promises to nominate. The vest pocket voter is the man to fear.

Collier's is always ready to expose graft but their own. Now they are after the Washington correspondents.

Mike McDonald's millions may not be able to save his wife from the state prison or the noose.

The legislature has adjourned until Tuesday, thus giving Madison time to catch its breath.

It looks as though Wisconsin had gone on record as favoring an extra session of congress.

The third ward appears to be blessed with aspirants for aldermanic positions.

PRESS COMMENT.

Racine Journal Recommends It. National Magazine: A poultice of flour and alcohol soothes an ulcerated tooth or inflamed swelling wonderfully.

Learned to Boost Early Exchange: To get right down to hard pan, why didn't Evelyn turn the brutal ravisher over to justice at once instead of capitalizing him?

Wot's That? Rockford Register-Gazette: Billy Watt, the Janesville newspaper man, is a candidate for mayor. What Watt wotest is something we can't understand.

Kuropat's Biography Exchange: Says the reckless Washington Herald: "Kuropat's pen is smiteler than his sword." Man, man! have you no regard for the hereafter?

Final Decision Unanimous. Louisville Courier-Journal: Some persons pronounce it "Saloom" while others call it "Salomay," but a still larger number pronounce it "rotten."

Lydia Still Supreme Exchange: Press pictures of Evelyn Nesbit continue to multiply in infinite variety. But they fail to make the durable impression of your old reliable Lydia Pinkham.

Joehing the Legislators Philadelphia Ledger: In this day of withered legislation one may expect with reasonable confidence a statute forbidding the presence of spots on the sun.

Poor Decadent Texas. New York Evening Sun: What is the matter with Texas? Is the state decadent? Otherwise, how could Senator Bailey keep on giving the lie without fighting?

Almost Superfluous Racine Journal: The trial of W. J. Davis, the former manager of the ill-fated Iroquois theatre, is now on at Danville. It is said testimony showing the fire horrors and awful experience of survivors is to be barred. Then why any trial?

Where Real Sympathy Belongs. Columbus Dispatch: It would not be amiss to direct a few thoughts of sympathy toward the widow of Stanford White. What she is suffering in silence as she learns of the details of their dishonored marriage relation it would doubtless be difficult to describe.

Harsh Judgment Chicago Chronicle: Public school discipline is a serious matter in Wisconsin. A number of girls were expelled from the Chippewa Falls high school for writing a harmless piece of doggerel verse on the school routine, and though their fathers took the case into court the judge refused to compel the school principal to restore them. The enormity of their offense may be judged by the first stanza of their "poem," which was as follows:

Sit gazing strictly to the front
Until the teacher says "Stand."
And then with dignity arise
And march to the brass band.

Such teachers and judges ought to be put to making shoes or cracking stone instead of teaching children.

South American Imbroglio Chicago News: Nicaragua is a fever of excitement over a real or fancied insult from Honduras and is afraid it will just have to go to war if some one doesn't hold it. Honduras was hunting a rabbit or doing something of the sort and stepped over the boundary line. Nicaragua heard about it a few days later and then its fire-eating sons lighted up a few cigarettes and insisted that they must have revenge. Nicaragua will never be happy until some able gentleman with a big stick or a stout skate strap applies it where it will do the most good. Those ferocious countries are almost as impetuous as the Russian gentleman who wants to fight a duel with the entire Imperial Yacht club.

Looks Like a Square Deal.

Sheboygan Journal: That a state commission when made up of competent men can conduct an investigation of public service corporations and do it fairly and without playing politics, has been demonstrated forcibly by the Wisconsin state railroad commission. The people probably will say "I told you so," but from the spirit in which the inquiry was made, it was evident that passenger rates would have been declared too low if the Wisconsin commission had found the evidence bore that way. The decision is so fair that even the railroads have not raised a protest and are, evidently, willing to comply without a fight. The action of the Wisconsin commission means a great deal for the attitude of the public toward commissions of this sort. The public service corporations also will have faith in it, because it is evident they will get a square deal.

Eau Claire's Sorrow.

Marquette Eagle-Star: The Eau Claire officials, who Tuesday carried a quarter of a million dollars in cash to the offices of the Water company and a few minutes later carried the same quarter of a million dollars back to the bank, had the unusual experience of having too much money. Arrangements had been made by Eau Claire to buy the plant, but the company refused to take the cash at its local offices. It is a case where the city wants to buy and where the company does not want to sell, although their franchise has expired, and it is feared that the case may have to be delayed by an appeal to the supreme court of the United States.

Senator Whitehead's Bill.

Evening Wisconsin: Senator John M. Whitehead has introduced in the senate a resolution proposing an amendment to the constitution of the state, which, if it passes, will revolutionize the entire system of courts in the state. It is something which the senator has been studying on for years, he says, but is so sweeping and radical that he has never had the temerity to introduce it before. Now that he may be able to retire from public life at the end of this session, he gives it to the state to think about. The proposition is calculated to do away with all the circuit and superior courts of the state and establish county courts in their place. The county court would be divided into departments and have jurisdiction in common law cases, equity cases. A large part of the ministerial work of the courts would be done by the clerks of the courts who are to be appointed by the judges and they also will be authorized to determine ex parte matters to a great extent. It is not intended to throw out of office any of the judges now on any bench, but as their terms expire it is proposed to eliminate their office and create county courts in place. The amendment if it passed would have little effect upon Milwaukee as all the courts of that city are practically county courts now, that is, their scope is limited to adjudication of disputed matters arising inside the confines of the county. The amendment would only change the name of the circuit and municipal and district courts to county courts but the work would go on about the same.

AFTON

Afton, Feb. 22—Songs, recitations, dialogues, instrumental music and other pleasing numbers by pupils from the upper department of the state graded schools at Afton and Shopiere, will go to make up the program for the February meeting of the Moonlight club, which will be held at Shopiere, Tuesday evening, Feb. 26. This will be the final meeting of the club for the present season, and with a program wholly different from anything yet attempted by the organization, and with a cordial invitation to the fair sex to be present at this last meeting, its success would seem already assured. Charles Porter of Turtle will preside as leader during the evening. The preparation of the program has been under the personal supervision of the principals of the two schools, Miss Sarah Z. Draflaf of Afton and Miss Mary Belcher of Shopiere, and this fact alone will insure the excellence of the entertainment planned.

It is reported that Rev. W. P. Christy of Janesville and Rev. P. H. Roth of Beloit will conduct English Lutheran services here Sunday evening, March 3.

MORTUARY MENTION.

Mrs. Martin Eagan. Mrs. Martin Eagan died at her home in the town of Magnolia Wednesday, February 20, at 10 a. m., at the age of 75 years. She leaves to mourn her loss besides an aged husband, seven children, two daughters and five sons: John Eagan and William Eagan of Chicago, James Eagan of St. Paul, Martin Eagan of West Superior, Mrs. John Skelley of Beloit, and Mrs. Jas. Holton and Frank Eagan of Magnolia. Three children preceded the mother to the other world. The funeral will be held from the Catholic church in Footville Saturday at 8 a. m. The interment will be in Janesville.

urday at 8 a. m. The interment will be in Janesville.

Frank Brown. All that is mortal of the late Frank Brown, whose death occurred Tuesday, was conveyed from the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Brown, in the town of Center and laid at rest in Oak Hill cemetery this afternoon. The funeral was held at the home, Rev. R. C. Denison officiating and song services being rendered by a choir consisting of C. N. Van Kirk, George Adkins, Mrs. C. E. Yates and Mrs. Frank Clark. The casket was covered with floral pieces contributed by friends and borne by former associates and neighbors: Joe Little, Harvey Little, George Yeomans, John Lyons, Will Poppie and Frank Poppie. Gathered about the remains were the father and mother, who for the first time mourn the loss of a son, the brothers Edson H. and Charles of the town of Center, Fred G. of North Fond du Lac, the sister, Mrs. B. V. Little, and many of the neighbors and companions who have known and respected him during the twenty-nine years of his life. In his death the family loses a loving and helpful son and brother, and the community an honest, respected and useful citizen.

Mrs. Susan Brakey. Miss You Barry was called to Chicago Wednesday by the sudden death of Mrs. Susan Brakey, who was Miss Barry's guest a few weeks last summer. The deceased was the mother-in-law of Mrs. G. A. Brakey of Chicago, nee Miss Nellie Barry of this city, and had many friends in Janesville who mourn her demise.

Used by Great Whist Expert to Rebuke Carping Partner.

Mrs. Hollingsworth Andrews, of Philadelphia, is one of the best whist players in America. She will not, however, play for money. She holds that no mother should gamble.

Mrs. Andrews at the end of a discussion on gambling, said the other day: "Never play for a stake if you have children, and never say to your partner in any case at the end of a game, 'If you had done this or that the outcome would have been different.' Whenever I have a partner of the 'If you had' kind, I think of the great Cavendish."

"Cavendish, the famous whist expert, when a partner said to him, 'If you had done so-and-so we'd have made so-and-so,' always replied: 'Did you ever hear the story of your uncle and your aunt?'"

"If the player had heard it he would at once become silent, not wishing to hear it again. If he had not heard it, he would pause in his post-mortem of the game and say: 'No. Tell it to me.'"

"Then Cavendish would frown and say in a solemn voice: 'If your aunt had been a man she would have been your uncle.'"

FARMING HAS PAID WELL.

Small Fortune Made in Few Years on Washington Land.

Twelve years ago W. B. Williams secured a homestead of 160 acres from one of the first settlers in that district (Yakima). At the time such claims were selling at $250 to $500. The land was left in sagebrush until three years ago, when it was cleared and planted. There are at present 80 acres alfalfa, 35 acres in clover, 22 acres in orchard of pears, apples, peaches and cherries, and one acre in grapes. An offer of $400 an acre has been refused for a portion of this farm. Hay has been the money producer on that Konnewick place. The total yield for last season was between 600 and 700 tons. Timothy gave a return of six tons to the acre. That hay is in demand at $18 a ton. Mixed clover and timothy sell at the farm for $15 a ton. Alfalfa is the standard crop and ranges about $10 or more a ton. It is easy to figure out how that farm is worth $50,000. It was only a desert four years ago. The crops have paid the first cost of the land and water, fencing and improving, and left the land complete to the owner. Next year the orchard will begin showing results.—Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

"ALWAYS BUSY."

Recently one of Dr. Richards' patients caught sight of his daily appointment book which showed that almost every working hour of his time for weeks and weeks back had been filled to the limit.

The office reception room outside was also full of waiting patients. The party mentioned that things looked pretty busy around there.

"Yes," said Dr. Richards, "they do."

"But no more today than it always is with me nowadays."

"Well, you ought to be busy," replied the party. "Any man who makes the effort to do his work deserves the support of the public."

"And there's truth in that statement."

People appreciate the efforts of a man who endeavors to alleviate their sufferings.

They often enter his office as white as a sheet.

Fear deprives them of power to control their nerves and

Some actually scream before they get in his operating chair.

But under his considerate care they soon find their fears groundless, and depart with a different opinion of one dentist at least.

"Once a patient of Dr. Richards, always a patient," is the usual outcome when people put aside their prejudices and are fair minded.

Simply because

"He delivers the goods."

Foibles of Young Londoners.

The fashion that causes certain young men to travel in four wheelers in preference to theansom is a variant of that awakening social instinct that causes them sometimes to affect a limp, short sightedness, nerves or other physical defect—a fashion that arises from a callow desire to give the effect that the young gentleman is leading a terrible life—going to the dogs, dear boy.—Vanity Fair, London.

REMARKABLE DEMAND FOR COOPER MEDICINES

The Phenomenal sale of L. T. Cooper's new preparations proves the many reports of their marvelous curative properties.

If You Use Electric Light

The Cellar Light can be turned on from the top before going down to fix the furnace and extinguished after you return, no groping in the dark or falling down stairs.

The Porch Light controlled by a switch inside is good protection against burglars, and also offers a light to welcome your guests.

The Closet Light can be used so as to light automatically when the door is opened and go out when it is closed. It does away with the use of matches and the danger of fire.

Recent improvement in incandescent lamps has reduced the price of current about 35 per cent which makes its use truly economical. Now is a good time to wire. May we send a solicitor to talk it over with you.

ROCK COUNTY Farms For Sale!

The Woodruff farm in west part of city of Janesville in tracts to suit purchaser. 23 acres with good house and barn.

The demand for Cooper's New Discovery and Quick Relief, which have effected such remarkable cures of stomach trouble, rheumatism, deafness and catarrh, has become enormous. Newspapers in every city have commented upon the curative powers and on the unprecedented demand of these remedies. Thousands of letters come every day to Mr. Cooper describing some of the most remarkable recoveries from the ravages of disease that have been brought to the attention of the public in recent years. A most remarkable letter was recently received from Mr. H. Jordan, a well-known restaurant proprietor of Scranton, who writes Mr. Cooper as follows:

"I have suffered for the past three years with a severe case of stomach trouble. I could eat next to nothing and suffered untold agonies from indigestion. My food would sour after eating and I would have sick headaches and dizzy spells. I lost forty pounds in weight and grew weak and nervous. I doctored with many different physicians and tried a number of so-called remedies, but received no relief. Reading of the remarkable cures of stomach trouble effected by Cooper's New Medicines, I decided to give them a trial. I secured a bottle of the New Discovery and received almost immediate relief. My appetite has returned and I do not experience any difficulty in digesting anything I eat. All pain and nervousness have disappeared and I am rapidly gaining in strength and weight. I desire to thank you for the good these remarkable remedies have done for me." Signed: MR. HENRY JORDAN, 136 Penn Ave., Scranton, Pa.

Nearly all diseases originate in the stomach. Cooper's New Discovery acts directly on the stomach and digestive organs. It increases the gastric juices, which are an all-important factor in the proper digestion of food. Cooper's New Discovery and Cooper's Quick Relief are the preparations with which L. T. Cooper effected his remarkable cures in St. Louis, New Orleans and other large cities, and results have amply proven that they can be used in the home with as much success as though administered personally by Mr. Cooper or his physicians.

CATARRH PREPARES THE SYSTEM FOR CONSUMPTION

While Catarrh in its first stages usually affects the head, it does not stop there if the trouble is allowed to run on. The contracting of a cold is generally the commencement of the unpleasant symptoms of ringing noises in the ears, nose stopped up, mucus dropping back into the throat, hawking and spitting, etc. The inner skin or mucous membrane of the body becomes inflamed and secretes an unhealthy matter which is absorbed into the blood, and Catarrh becomes a serious and dangerous blood disease. Every day the blood becomes more heavily loaded with these poisonous secretions, and as the poisoned blood constantly passes through the lungs they become diseased, and often Catarrh terminates in Consumption. Sprays, washes, inhalations and such treatment do no real good, because they do not reach the poison-laden blood, where the real trouble lies. The only way to cure Catarrh is to purify and build up the blood. S. S. S. has been proven the remedy best suited for this purpose. It goes down to the very bottom of the trouble and removes every trace of impurity from the circulation, freshens this life stream and, as this healthy blood goes to every nook and corner of the system, Catarrh is driven out and a lasting cure made. The inflamed membranes and tissues heal, the secretions cease, the head is cleared and the entire system renovated and put in good condition by the use of S. S. S. Write for free book which contains valuable information about Catarrh and ask for any special medical advice you desire, without charge.

Willie West Has a Few to Hand Out Anent Auto Costumes.

The busy clothing manufacturers have been outdoing each other in originating unique garments for automobile users. These auto clothes, as a rule, are everything but useful. They are made to sell. For a man who travels over a mile a minute in an auto on a country road has prima facie more money than brains and so will not "see through" the wiles of the garment purveyors. He just pays.
